RE: Agenda Item F.5 – Groundfish EFH and RCA Amendment:

Dear Ms. Lowman and Council Members:

We, the below 20,175 residents of the United States and U.S. Territories, write in support of the Essential Fish Habitat “Comprehensive Conservation Proposal” submitted by Oceana, Natural Resources Defense Council, and Ocean Conservancy in 2013 to protect important ocean habitats off the U.S. West Coast from bottom trawling.

The proposed new and modified Essential Fish Habitat Conservation Areas are in crucial areas such as the Southern California Bight, Farallon Escarpment, Cape Arago, Astoria Canyon, and the Olympic Coast. The proposal also includes the deep-water conservation area in waters beyond 3,500m (11,484 feet) off California, which remains largely pristine and unexplored. These proposed areas to be protected include hotspots for corals, sponges, rocky reefs, underwater canyons and other unique and sensitive seafloor habitats that support healthy ocean ecosystems. These areas provide habitat essential to the survival and recovery of recreationally and commercially important fish species like rockfish as well as many non-commercial species like sea stars and octopuses.

Bottom trawling, the practice of dragging large nets, steel doors and rollers along the seafloor to catch commercially important fish, is widely known to destroy and flatten seafloor habitats. Intact and biologically diverse seafloor habitats are essential to managed fish species and to the health and biodiversity of ocean ecosystems. The essential fish habitat areas included in coast-wide conservation proposal should be off limits to bottom trawling.

This proposal represents a balanced management approach that protects living seafloor habitats while maintaining vibrant fisheries for a healthy, sustainable ocean ecosystem. The proposal incorporates the most recent scientific findings on where important habitats occur, including newly identified coral and sponge observations and bycatch hotspots as well as locations of sensitive rocky reefs that were not known in 2005 when the current EFH Conservation Areas were established. Additionally, other areas that were off limits to trawling in 2015 through the Trawl Rockfish Conservation Areas (RCAs) are now being considered for reopening as part of the scope of this action. It is critical that known sensitive habitat types within the RCAs remain closed to bottom trawling as EFH Conservation Areas. The Comprehensive Conservation Proposal demonstrates how the Pacific Fishery Management Council and National Marine Fisheries Service can protect essential fish habitat, while meeting the requirements of the law and minimizing economic burdens on the fishing industry.

Specifically we ask that you fully analyze, adopt, and implement the “Comprehensive Conservation Proposal” in its entirety through a regulatory amendment to the Pacific Coast Groundfish Fishery Management Plan. Protecting ocean habitats is a critical part of responsible fishery management. As you are aware, habitat conservation helps ensure long-term sustainable and productive fisheries, vibrant coastal communities, and healthy marine ecosystems. Thank you for ensuring living seafloor habitats are protected from bottom trawling.

Sincerely,

20,175 residents of the United States and U.S. Territories
